Helping the world to feel a safer place for children with developmental trauma

To all prospective trustees

Adenydd is looking to recruit Trustees for the charity. As you will see from our website, we are a small charity based in South Wales and our vision is to help the world feel a safer place for children with developmental trauma. To work towards our vision we have a number of activities that support a range of professionals, including school staff and social care staff, and families to understand and support children who have experienced adverse childhood experiences.

Adenydd is at an exciting but challenging stage of development. Until the start of the pandemic we were a locally based charity working in South Wales. However, the pandemic gave us the push to take our activities online and thus our reach has been extended to across the UK and even globally.

We feel we are moving from our 'start up stage' to consolidation and further development to extend our range of activities. We are seeking additional Trustees to strengthen our board. We would like Trustees who share our vision and are committed to supporting our CEO, Development Officer, Associates, Volunteers and other Trustees in working towards that vision. Ideally, some of the new Trustees will complement the knowledge understanding and skills of the current Trustees who have expertise in lived experience, social care and education.

As a board of trustees, we like to think we are professional, pragmatic and friendly. We take our monitoring role to ensure that the charity meets legal requirements seriously and strive to achieve the best practice standards. We value diversity and the richness that brings to our discussions, respecting each other's ideas, thoughts and perspectives.

We look forward to receiving applications from prospective Trustees and if you have any questions or queries please do not hesitate to get in touch.

Kind regards,
